

As one with nearly three decades of working in the medium of Teletype I wholeheartedly support George Hutchinson and his proposal for Widecast broadcast using existing ,tried and tested technology.The ability to transmit via High Frequency is priceless.Radio Teletype gets the message over long haul distances when all else fails. It is a reliable back channel for emergency communications and would lend itself very well to Home Land security utilization.Like the original DARPA there are many stations all with compatible Radio Teletype system locations distributed randomly across the country .It could never be completely put out of action.George in the past has run an Expereimental Teletype station with excellent results in reception through out the country and world .He has proven its continued utility as well as members skills in recieving techniques.I endorse the Widecast proposal                      Thank You,Gregory Mengell
